Standby for Russia: Luckenbill has resigned so I am asking Wietze de Vries to take over (address on the other side).

Press: France to Italy: When I supported you into Munich, I also stressed that you make that the limit of your movement north, remember? In breaking this agreement, I must assume you think equally little of our earlier one.

HELP!

Kaiser in exile to all governments: HELP!

Germany survived the thirty years war, the hundred years war, must this valiant country cease to exist due to neglect?

Rochester: For the life of me, I can't find that French press in anything written by Shakespeare!

XX

If I've forgotten anything, make sure you tell me about it!

The following is my name, address, phone number and short ~~xxx~~ autobiography:

Donald L. Sigwalt
125 Howard street
Rochester, New York 14605

(716) 232-1365

I was born on Thursday afternoon, January 12, 1961 at Rochester, New York.

I grew up (in fact am still growing up) in Rochester. One day I bought myself a diplomacy game at a store (in Rochester). Little did I know then that I would end up gamesmastering a couple games for something called Claw & Fang. I also had no idea that this activity would prevent me from playing baseball (if you can still call it baseball when you only have 4 people playing and one mitt) on the evening of July 7, 1930. I wouldn't mind giving up my exercise so much if you guys seemed a little more interested in these games! What makes me think you aren't interested in the games? Well, there were two NMRs this time. If it weren't for 3 phone calls this evening (the day of the deadline), there would have been 5 NMRs. I also got a mailagram today and a phone call yesterday. You guys are starting to cut it pretty close. C'mon now, let's get on the ball and get those orders in early!

Get some orders in or else... or else... all your units will just sit there doing nothing!

The only reason I'm giving this lecture is that I have lots of room to fill this time. Why do I have so much room? Because I only got 10 lines of press from you guys this time. It's your own fault that you're reading this garbage I wrote instead of some witty press releases. If you don't want to hear anymore of my ravings then write some press.

Do I have anything else to complain about? I guess not. At least for now

Almost out of room.

Remember the deadline is August 7, 1930. Get 'em in early!

(Oh darn. Out of room. Now I can't finish my autobiography. And I wanted to see how it ended.)
